A Great Escape!

by George

It was dark. It was smelly. Bob the butterflyfish was still alive in a shark's belly. He had just been eaten! "Oh no," Bob shouted angrily. "What am I going to do?" "Why don't you escape with me?" said a voice right behind him. Bob jumped out of his scales. Bob frantically turned around and gasped. It was like looking in a mirror. "I'm called Zoz" said Zoz. "I'm called Bob", said Bob. "You're a butterflyfish!" "Of course I am," said Zoz. "How are we going to escape from this?" screeched Bob. "Why don't we swim up to his mouth and ask him if he would let us out?" Zoz said with a grin. "What a silly idea!" shouted Bob. "Are you crazy?" "Have you got a better idea then?" asked Zoz. "Errr, no" admitted Bob. So, the two little fish swam up to the shark's mouth and asked the shark to let them out. The shark was so shocked he opened his mouth wide in horror. They sprinted for the sea as the shark's jaw began to close. They just escaped in time. The two friends swam off laughing about their adventure and the shark was never seen again.
